

HOW TO HANG EYELET CURTAINS

Ironing may be required before hanging - ensure iron is used on fabric side only.

Start threading the eyelets onto the rod, making sure you start with an end with the curtain edges pointing back towards the window/wall, otherwise you will be able to see the backing of the curtain from un the room.

The last eyelet of each end needs to cover the wall bracket and finish before the final or end of the rod.

Eyelets should always be made with an even number of eyelets to ensure both ends can point back towards the wall for a neat finish.
